

Letter and memo from Peter in Lesotho, December 9, 2017

Peter in Lesotho has distributed bottles of the Opti-Silver ionic silver to locals in Lesotho that were donated to him for that purpose.

On December 9, 2017, he sent Jay Newman an email with the letter and memo on the following pages. (He also sent a video, which is available on request, but his accent is so strong it's almost unintelligible for most people. The memo here that follows his letter is actually the script he wrote for himself, which he read to record the video.)

Below is a picture of Peter (extracted from the video he sent with the letter and memo/script.)

See his letter and memo on the following pages.

Dear Jay;

RE: IONIC SILVER AS AN INFECTIOUS DISEASES RELIEF EFFORT FOR AFRICAN PEOPLE!!!

Dear Jay;

Thank you for your wonderful humanitarian labor of love. We absolutely appreciate the donation of over 200 bottles of Ionic Silver that we have successfully distributed with our volunteer network in village communities here in Kingdom of Lesotho.

For a variety of practical reasons, donations in terms of ionic silver product and if possible any funding support will help to build sustainable capacity to effectively distribute the product in Lesotho and other parts of Africa.

In one word, Jay, you are about to enter an excellent humanitarian period of live saving era and be the first person in the world to launch the distribution of ionic silver in grand scale here in Africa.

Jay, I have sent you the video and the script. I look forward to having good results and I hope your nonprofit will grow so you can send us a lot more bottles. There is so much need here and it has worked better than anything we ever saw!

Thank you again upfront, Yours Sincerely;

Ssemakula Peter Luyima

Hello, my name is Luyima Peter a published author and serial entrepreneur and CEO of number of Start-Up Companies, first up The Water Trade and Power (Lesotho), Ltd.

C-Way Automotive LLC (C-Way Connected Vehicle and Industrialization Program model based on the combination of C-Way Focused production of powertrain components for conventional and Electrification/hybridization of powertrains including battery design and electronic system controls development (new and upgrades).. to mention a few.

I am very excited today to share briefly my grassroots humanitarian efforts here in Africa since 2008 marketing Ionic silver.

Beginning July, 2008, we got donations from Dr Len Horowitz of Silver hydrosol that we distributed in the communities surrounding Mukono village in Uganda under my leadership. Volunteer doctors from this region provided medical supervision and caring support. The benefits and gratitude of the people touched by this humanitarian project was very humbling, and this research program was a success, as an infectious diseases relief effort.

We expanded the humanitarian infectious diseases relief effort to Kenya and Swaziland.

After working with Dr Len Horowitz and I got to read about Jay's remarkable work via his website and have personally distributed almost two hundred bottles of ionic silver that we received from Jay Newman as a gift over the past two years and distributed it to family, colleagues, and villagers in rural areas.

And again the results we have seen for reducing infectious disease are absolutely incredible. This is without a question the single most important health product we have ever seen. There is very little Internet here but most villagers have cell phones and they're constantly using messaging, and we're using that for training the people on how to use it and for reporting on the results. This ionic silver may prove to be the most significant factor in reducing deaths in Africa. I look forward to working with Jay's organization to distribute the ionic silver to people in Lesotho and many other regions of Africa.
